RELIEF FOR THE SOUTH.

INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

The following correspondence between Mr. W. H. Ferris and Mr. W. Gilmore Simms, of this city, has been furnished for publication.

From time to time substantial evidence reaches us that there is a party in the North which knows no distinction of State or section in the charitable desire to give food to the hungry and clothing to the naked; and, while such a party exists, we cannot be entirely despondent or feel that all hope is gone. It may be long before the turning point in our fortunes is reached; but, come when it may, it will find fresh in our gratitude and in our remembrance the names of those who have contributed their mite for the aid of the poor of the South:

UNITED STATES TREASURY,
New York, May 31, 1867.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed you will please find a certificate of deposit for $315, being the contribution of the officers and employees of this office, for the relief of their destitute brethren of the South. As the contributors are desirous that the "widow's mite" should be productive of all the good possible, I have very respectfully to request, in their name, that you will give the distribution your personal supervision.

Very respectfully,
W. HAWKINS FERRIS.

W. GILMORE SIMMS, Esq., Charleston, S. C.

WOODLANDS, S. C., June 8, 1867.

My Dear Sir: I am sensibly touched by the compliment paid me by yourself and the officers and employees of the Treasury Department of New York. Personally acquainted with most of them, as I am, and long since made sensible of their worth and general intelligence, through repeated associations and kindnesses to myself, it is grateful to think that I possess their confidence. I have received the certificate of deposit for $315, their and your contribution, which you have sent me; and perfectly well taught in the necessities of our people, I have proceeded to its distribution in such manner as I have thought best; and in full exercise of the discretion which you have accorded me. You speak of it as the "widow's mite;" and the hint thus given, has been a guide to my appropriation of it. Our country is filled with widows and with orphans. Among these there are thousands who never clamor about their privations—who suffer and are silent! But it is impossible wholly to conceal the fact that they do suffer. I have applied your handsome donation almost wholly to this class of persons, and all these, and their circumstances, are wholly within my knowledge. Most of them are persons who have been habitually independent, free from care, accustomed to indulgence, living in comfort, if not in the enjoyment of absolute affluence. Many of them, now, are not merely destitute of help, and the attendance of ordinary servants, but, as I believe, suffer from a want of the simplest and most wholesome food. Your donation will be made to relieve from much privation; will afford comforts to revive an exhausted nature, to encourage a rapidly declining hope, to say nothing of a faltering faith. What I say of the few of whom I speak, is, I am sad to say, the truth as respects our entire county; and I see no prospect of change or relief. The South, unless the government shall rise to that highest wisdom in government, which is magnanimity, is destined to be the incubus of the Union! The wisdom of government can only be shaped by the morals of society.—If your people, generally, could feel as those do who, like yourselves, are prepared to recognize humanity, irrespective of politics and party, there would be no difficulty. But I must not trespass upon a doubtful province. It is not to be denied to me, that in the present aspect of the country, I should despond. My better nature prompts me still to hope. You will be so good as to say to my friends and yours, your associates, that their "widow's mite," in my hands, shall not be wasted; and you may assure them that its good will be gratefully felt, and frankly acknowledged; and, under scriptural assurance, you may add that the compensative returns, in blessings, will certainly reach them after "certain days."

It will be always grateful to me to serve my people, as the agent of those generous friends whom you so honorably represent.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient and obliged serv't,
W. GILMORE SIMMS.

W. HAWKINS FERRIS, Esq., U. S. Treasury, New York.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT AT THE NEW YORK ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—On Wednesday night the little Japanese called "All Right" shot down the rope and reached the middle of the downward course, when, to the horror of the thousands who were gazing upon the awful movement, one of the cords attached to the dress circle fixings to brace the main rope gave way. The latter, relaxing its rigidity by the sudden outlet, fell a few feet downward, and then shot upward with a twang like the snapping of an arrow string, and the little performer was flung from his hold high into air, and in an instant was dashed through space full fifty feet to the floor in the middle aisle below. It would be useless to attempt to picture the scene that ensued. The screeches of the terrified women rang fearfully piercing through the halls, while the men, with cheeks blanched to the whiteness of a corpse, sat as if frozen to their seats with terror. Several of the ladies fell swooning in their boxes, and were carried out into the ante-rooms.

In his fall the right side of his head was fearfully crushed. Both his ankles were very badly sprained. His right side and his pelvis were also seriously injured. The physicians believe, however, that notwithstanding the injuries he has sustained, that if there be no internal hurt, of which at midnight there was no sign, he will recover in a short time from the effects of his fearful fall. They pronounce his escape from instant death as almost miraculous. Not a bone of the child's body was broken.—Herald.

DEPRAVITY.—The New York "World" announces that the 'women' of the town had a pic nic at one of the public parks in that city, on Wednesday, at which were represented all the dangerous classes, from sneak thieves to murderers. The swell mob were out in full force, and among the swarm of fashionably dressed women present there was not one who could throw the first stone at her neighbor.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophies, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars, in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1867.

AN ACCOMMODATING POLITICIAN.

Nothing, perhaps, exhibits in a clearer light the demoralization of the times, than the readiness with which men of ability, among the former leaders of public sentiment, surrender their old and cherished political principles, and accept those views which they formerly abhorred and denounced. We do not allude to the issues of slavery and anti-slavery, or of secession, or whatever the results of war have either settled or made impracticable, but we speak of fundamental principles, essential to the preservation of the old government.

Few politicians have, in former days, exhibited a greater disposition to accommodate themselves to circumstances, to yield to, and endeavor to get ahead of, vicious popular sentiment, more readily, than Mr. Seward, the present Secretary of State.—More than all others, are Mr. Seward and Mr. Greeley responsible for the present departure of the country from the great landmarks of American liberty. The selfishness of political ambition prompted them to rouse the lion, the vox populi, and to fill the public mind with wild theories of a misguided progress. Mr. Seward, for several years, has seemed to wake up to the necessity of checking the lion, yet all his efforts have been unavailing. Mr. Greeley, on the other hand, has the lion under saddle, attempting to manage him with whip and spur. We were, therefore, unprepared to hear from Mr. Seward the following expressions, which our Chapel Hill correspondent, some days ago, represented him as having used in his late brief speech at that place.—He says that Mr. Seward remarked:

"If the interest of America demands State sovereignty, he was for that; if it demanded a metropolitan government, he was for it."

Here, it seems, Mr. Seward is getting back to his old stand-point,—his disposition to be all things to all men. He thus ignores, as at least dubious, the devotion to the old government and the Constitution, which he has evinced for the last three years, and still upholds in his occasional endorsements of President Johnson and his policy.

These few seemingly ad captandum words, we take it, contain in a nutshell the gist of the great controversy now pending, and which has really been pending ever since the formation of the Republican party, between the Conservative men of the country and the Republicans or Radicals. The "Union," "loyalty," "traitors and treason," "equality before the law," et. cet., are simply demagogical instruments, by which they seek to destroy the old government and to inaugurate the "metropolitan" despotism.

What is best for America? Who can tell till the experiment is made? The old government, rightly administered,—administered in the spirit and according to the intent of its founders,—proved itself for nearly eighty years to be "the best government the world ever saw." It failed only when it ceased to be administered according to the spirit and intent of the Constitution.—It was good enough for any people until captious fanatics of the North, and inconsiderate pro-slavery men at the South, under the promptings of a wild and unbridled political ambition, determined to destroy it. The old government was not perfect.—Nothing human can be made so. Unfortunately, the fathers could not look into futurity—could not provide against the developments of progress—relied too much upon the continued harmony and patriotism of the various sections,—yielded too much to the spirit of compromise, and, hence, did not as carefully and as fully define the powers of the State and the national governments as they should have done. Washington, after several years experience, foresaw the rock upon which the nation might split, and warned it of the danger in his Farewell address. The experience of a few years ought to have satisfied our leading men that the machinery of the government had shrunk and needed refitting.—The halcyon era of the Monroe administration was the time to have re-adjusted the machinery and put on additional breaks, both to the encroachments of the Federal and the State governments. But alas! this necessary work was neglected, until the political virtue of the country was seriously shaken, and partyism, not patriotism, ruled the nation.

Shall we have a government, recognizing the principle of State sovereignty over its internal concerns,—the guardian of the personal rights of the people—a principle we believe essential to a Republic, or shall we go on enlarging our domain, destroying the rights and power of the State governments, and, placing the entire power of the government in a central cabal at Washington, drive on to despotism? Which would be best for America, i. e. the whole people of America, we presume no honest far-seeing statesman can doubt. We have tried the one and found it defective, but nevertheless good in its designs,—one which might prove a blessing for all time, if properly adjusted. The other is an untried experiment, but one which may prove an unmitigated evil. Give us our old government, with the powers of the national and State governments better defined and better guarded, rather than risk the turmoil and blood through which we may pass in establishing on American soil a government totally adverse to the principles of a Republican government.

JUDGE BARNES,—EDGECOMBE SPECIAL COURT.

The telegraph on yesterday did not fully and correctly state the ruling of his Honor, Judge Barnes, at the special term of Oyer and Terminer which was held in Edgecombe County last week. It represented him as having adjourned the Court, because negroes were summoned as jurors,—saying that he had taken an oath to support the State laws, which do not recognize the right of negroes to sit on juries. The Tarboro Southerner, received since the publication of the telegram, thus gives the facts in the case:

"COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.—This Court convened on Monday, Judge Barnes presiding, and on Tuesday he delivered to the Grand Jury an appropriate and forcible charge and ordered a special venire in the case of the State vs. John Taylor and Jim Knight, charged with the murder of Mr. Cutchin. The counsel for the prisoners (Messrs. Biggs & Johnston) asked the Court to instruct the Sheriff to summon from all the citizens who were tax payers. This was declined, but the Sheriff was directed to summon from a jury list of tax payers prepared by the proper officers. The case was called on Wednesday morning, and the Sheriff returned that, as the County Court had not revised the jury list, since the order of Gen. Sickles, he had summoned only white freeholders. The prisoners' counsel challenged the array and demanded a trial at this term or to be discharged; and after a lengthy debate, mostly between Mr. Biggs for the prisoners and Mr. Howard for the prosecution, the Judge overruled the challenge and suggested to the prisoners' counsel that he would continue the case for them, if an affidavit was made that it was doubtful whether a fair trial could be had from the present panel. The prisoners' counsel insisted upon a trial, and that a venire should be at once formed from the tax payers, according to the order of General Sickles, and they declined to ask for a continuance.

The Court after deliberation decided, with the consent of the Attorney General, that, as doubts existed whether a legal jury could now be obtained for want of a jury list, (which according to his construction of the order was necessary,) he would continue the case, and refused to discharge the prisoners. The result of this decision is that the Court of Oyer and Terminer has proved utterly fruitless for the trial of a number of cases, and the Court immediately adjourned.

On Tuesday, Gus. Holmes was arraigned for the murder of Matthew King, and being unable to employ counsel, the Court assigned Messrs. Phillips of this place and Moore of Martin, for his defence.

Owing to the decision of Judge Barnes, this cause was also continued until the next term. As the law now stands, no case can be tried by jury until the County Court meets and makes proper provisions for revising the lists in accordance with General Order No. 32. The sooner this is done, the sooner may we expect to have the public business transacted."

The holding the Courts by our Judges, under the Constitution and laws of the State and of the United States, (which they are sworn to support,) as affected by the orders of the military commander, is an embarrassing and perplexing duty. They are compelled, by their oath of office, to swear that, "in case any letter or orders come to them (me) contrary to law, they (I) will proceed to enforce the law, such letters or orders notwithstanding." In this matter of [illegible] the statute requires that the lists shall be made up from "taxable freeholders, only of persons well qualified." Gen. Sickles' General Order No. 32 commands that "all citizens, assessed for taxes and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors." Here there is no reference either to freehold or intelligence qualifications. Under such circumstances, what is a Judge to do?

It may be said that the State is without a Constitution and laws. We reply that the Military bill, so far from declaring this, specially re-enacts them, but pronounces them provisional merely,—that is, in force until a new government is established in the manner prescribed.

Chief-Justice Chase, in the order which he made, a few days since, in the Circuit Court, expressly recognized the validity and binding obligation of the law of the State in this matter. He directed the Marshal, in summoning grand and petit jurors, to make no distinction, on account of color or race, "among persons otherwise qualified to serve." Accordingly, only such colored persons as were "freeholders," and "well qualified," were summoned.

A SMALL BUSINESS.—The nerves of the Standard are so much affected at the thought of Confederate gray, that, having learned that Gov. Worth was dressed in a gray suit at the reception of the President, it can talk or think, it seems, of little else. Mr. Holden, the Senior, was not present to see that gray suit, yet the mere hearing of it deeply affects him. He seems to be trembling lest the next thing that appears, after the gray suit, will be Benning's Brigade. Now let us console and compose our neighbor.—Gov. Worth did not wear, on the occasion, a suit of Confederate gray, but, on the reception of North Carolina's distinguished son, thought it not inappropriate to appear in a beautiful new suit of North Carolina manufacture. He wore it of choice, because it was the product of a North Carolina factory—it being one of the beautiful gray mixed fabrics of the Rock Island Wool Factory, at Charlotte.

A wonderful change has come over the spirit of Mr. Holden's dreams about Confederate gray. No such fancies disturbed him in 1861, when he gave $100 to the Raleigh Rifles, $100 to the Oak City Guards, and $100 to the Ellis Light Artillery, afterwards Ramseur's and Manly's Battery, to equip those Companies. If we mistake not, there are many witnesses of Mr. Holden's munificence and his loyalty to the Confederate cause, in these cases, when he aided voluntarily and boldly, without the slightest duress, in equipping those Companies. But alas! the thought of gray now makes him shiver, or nauseates him.

In a jury empanelled at Houston, Texas, last month, fourteen out of twenty-four were colored. In one case eleven of twenty were colored, and one of these eleven was the only man of the jury who could write.

Savannah has the second rank, as a cotton port, along the whole coast. She has surpassed Mobile the last season by an excess of 9,000 bales in receipt, and has received 100,000 bales more than Charleston.

THE NEXT PRESIDENCY.

[Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.]

WASHINGTON, June, 1867.

A Washington letter, recently published in the Commercial, giving the details of an interview between General Grant and Judge Carter, on the subject of the next Presidency, seems to attract the attention of the country, as well it may, for it settles the question, always an exciting one at this stage of the quadrennial period, as to who shall be the next incumbent at the White House. I write this short communication chiefly for the purpose of confirming what is asserted in that letter, to wit: that Grant has announced himself, and considers himself, a Presidential candidate—and to do so I go back to an occurrence of last winter. Happening to be in this city during some of the winter months, I called one evening at the rooms of your Cincinnati representative, Mr. Eggleston, where I found that honorable gentleman and several others, among them Judge Carter, in free conversation on political topics, and especially the next Presidency. Judge Carter spoke up: "If Gr-r-ant w-w-wants it, all h-h-hell c-c-cant keep him out of it." The honorable Ben gave in his testimony to the effect that he knew that Grant was a candidate. Grant had told him as much, though not in so many words. A few days ago he had seen Grant, and had had a long talk with him in the cloak room of the House.—Grant tried to dodge the issue, but he (Eggleston) had forced him to it by saying that it might be necessary for him (Grant) to run in order to save the Union party.—Grant smiled, and said he hoped it wouldn't come to that, but of course if it did he would take the nomination. Now this much from Grant is equal to a positive announcement from anybody else; and, when I heard it, construed it as Eggleston and Judge Carter did, into a declaration that Ulysses had at least one eye on the White House. Neither Carter nor Eggleston seemed to like it a bit, for the first choice of each was then and is now Ben. Wade. Eggleston, however, consoled himself, that Grant would be good enough for him; he knew the whole family from beginning to end, and he'd have a good friend in the Presidency, if Grant was elected. Some one present suggested that Chase was "running very hard," and would either be nominated or perish in the attempt. Judge Carter, whose antipathy to Chase is very well known, and is traceable perhaps to the fact that the two were rival candidates in 1861, for a place in Mr. Lincoln's cabinet, couldn't hear the chief justice's prospects mentioned without entering a protest, so he remarked, "Ch-Ch-Ch-ase be d-d-amned. He has no more sh-show for it than that n-n-igger," alluding to a colored citizen who had just entered the room to poke the fire.

Other names were talked over, but it was conceded on all hands that Grant was the coming man; that if he wanted the office he could certainly get it, and that he certainly wanted it. Some gentleman, who pretended to know whereof he affirmed, said that as far as Grant himself was concerned he preferred the position of General of the United States army, to the doubtful and turbulent honors of the Presidency, but that Mrs. Grant and all the other Grants, except Ulysses, were ambitious in the direction of the White House, and Ulysses had finally yielded his own preference to theirs, and was, without much concealment, a candidate for the Convention of 1868.

Returning again to Mr. Chase's prospects, it was asked whether he could carry the Ohio vote in a national Convention? Eggleston said he couldn't speak for the whole State, but he knew of one district Chase couldn't carry—and that I suppose was the [illegible] choice second to Grant, Ohio would vote for Wade, and that Wade's friends, whatever else they might do, would see to it that Chase wasn't nominated; they would unite with anybody else's friends to beat him at any rate.

Thus much, Mr. Editor, for an interview between a few of the knowing ones as early as January last, from which you will perceive that Gen. Grant had then made up his mind to be President. True, there is a little of the Cæsarian style of "putting away the crown" about Grant's response to Eggleston's plain question, but a hint from Grant is equal to a declaration from anybody else, and so it may be set down as a fixed fact that the hero of Vicksburg may be the next President of the United States. Chase's friends are undismayed, however, and will not give up the contest until their candidate is beaten in the national convention. The "ring" is already formed. As the initial step in the programme, Mr. Richard C. Parsons, who, as between Chase and the Lord, serves the former first and best, has been called to Washington and installed as Marshal of the Supreme Court, nominally, but really as head center of the Chase ring.—All the appointments under the bankrupt act have been entrusted to his care; and "mark it, Horatio," none but good Chase men will be appointed, and from each and every register a good account is expected when the day of reckoning shall come, next summer. There are some who believe Mr. Chase ought to be content where he is.—Perhaps he ought, but he isn't.

Soon after his appointment as chief justice, Mr. Lincoln was speaking to Ben. Wade, expressing his surprise that he did not appear to "settle down on the bench and be quiet." "Settle down!" says Ben, "if you sent him to heaven he wouldn't settle down. He'd want to be archangel first, and then, when he got that, he'd reach for the Almighty's throne." The misfortune with Chase is that he never surrounds himself with men who can do him any good. He hasn't a friend in Ohio, they say, who can control a single congressional district. John Sherman is probably his best bottle-holder—but John's influence is on the wane, and now that every male relation of his of eighteen years and upward is in office under the federal government, he is becoming sort o' careless, and doesn't take that deep interest in politics that he did a few years ago. The bait of secretary of the treasury is held out to him, but it's questionable whether he would change a seat in the Senate for it. Jay Cooke and the national banks are the main stay of the Chase ring, and have promised to furnish the sinews of war as called upon.

Then comes Ben. Wade, who, if Grant were out of the way, would be undoubtedly the most formidable of all the Republican candidates. He is backed by the leading radicals in the Senate, as is evident from the almost unanimous vote by which he was chosen president of the Senate, as against Fessenden. Chandler assures him of the Michigan delegation, and agrees to furnish the needful to offset the National Bank levy in favor of Chase. The tariff men of New England will rally to his support, and raise all the money required for the campaign if necessary; for Wade has but one rule in voting on tariff bills, and that is to go in for the highest figures, whether they be ten per cent. or a hundred per cent. Forney, last winter, called on Wade, and assured him of the Pennsylvania vote, in preference to any other man, even Grant himself. Exactly who authorized J. W. F. to do this, is not apparent; and if we are to take the vote of the Pennsylvania legislature in the election of senator as any indication, the proprietor of the "two papers, both daily," doesn't stand very high in the Republican party of that State.

But the question is settled, and what's the use of discussing probable candidates? Colfax was bamboozled by a few crazy fellows into the belief that he had a chance, and the poor little man has been worrying himself nigh unto death ever since. He has been writing to the Fenians about Vinegar Hill; to the Christians about the happy land; to the Jews about Jerusalem; to the Baptists in favor of immersion; to the Calvanists in favor of hell fire; to the Catholics in favor of the Pope, and to the radicals hallelujah for the niggers. And as if this wasn't enough to elect a man, he has lectured three thousand four hundred and fifty-five times on buffaloes, bears and wild cats. Morton has aspirations, but no chance. He and Colfax hate each other most cordially, and each will do what in him lies to kill off the other. There are others I might name, but I shall not take up your space and my own time.

I see that one of Mr. Fessenden's sons has been appointed register of bankruptcy in Maine. This, according to your Washington correspondence of last winter, makes the nineteenth blood relation of the distinguished Senator who is feeding at the national hay-rack at the present time.

COTTON IN THE FUTURE.

An increase—large, substantial and permanent—of the production of Cotton would ensure, if not greatly more, certainly as much, to the advantage of the Northwest as to the Cotton growing region. The prospect of the growing of Cotton in the South is sadly discouraging at present to those who have experience in its cultivation. Late accounts of an official character from India claim that the cultivation of the staple there is on so sound a basis, and capital has entered so extensively into it, owing to the belief that it has been demonstrated by the experience of the year past that it can be cultivated there with profit at even the low figures of the ante-American war period, that it will continue to be cultivated there to a large and annually increasing extent. For a few years to come America has, under the depressed condition of its culture, and the unsettled aspect of the labor necessary for its cheap production, but one probable, we may say but one possible, show to reinstate the culture of this great exporting staple on a basis sufficiently sound to compete with the new condition of things; that is to encourage its growth by national aid. It is undoubtedly a matter of national interest that a product of our soil so largely contributing as cotton has in the past, and can again, to balancing our foreign imports—giving impetus, in doing so, to our great shipping interest, and oiling, generally, all the wheels of commerce—should receive the fostering care of our government and people. If a bounty was needed to foster the fishing business of New England, and incidentally, our shipping interests when they languished, how much more is a bounty needed now for interests a hundred times greater, and which, in their extent, ramification, influence and effect, are widely national? The Northwest is specially interested that the growing of cotton in the South should be a profitable industry.—Whenever it is so, the South, in the natural course of things, becomes at once a great, the great, consumer of the agricultural products of the Northwest, increasing, under such influence, the area of cotton planting, while, at the same time, the area of cereals and other food products are largely decreased. This would be the effect; inuring directly to the advantage of the Northwest, at the expense, we believe, however, of our own section. We merely state our opinion of what results would be under certain conditions that we think the actual needs of the whole country will soon force on us. A bounty stimulating the cultivation of cotton in the United States, and putting it again in the Southern States on even, if not vantage ground, with India, would, by lessening the production of grain and provisions on a large scale, as is now a necessity in the South, once more open to the West that great market for its staple productions that so enriched it in the past, but which now the South is forced to supply from within itself. In our view this cotton question will, and that ere long, unite the great shipping interests of the North with the greater agricultural interests of the West, to enforce from Congress such legislation as will again build up the great exporting product of the country.

THERE is no fear that the colored man will not be treated with impartial justice.—In his favor he has the civil law, the military law and the sensative honor of our people. If any wrong were attempted to be done him, he would have the whole military force to watch over and protect his interests. This is not the case with the white man. He has no apologist or defender outside of his own people, and must depend for justice upon an impartial law alone.—The whole army of the United States and the whole race of Southern freedmen, are watching the white man; but no one is watching the negro with the diligence and care with which he should be watched.—Our civil officers have a right to enforce impartially every civil law or military order, they have no right to allow the negro to go scot-free when, for the same offence, a white man would be tried, condemned and punished. Let a Southern white man pass through the Districts of this State, and urge the people to disobey and set at naught the laws of the United States, and he will be immediately arrested and tried as a disturber of the public peace. But the white politician who inflames the passions of the negro, who prates of confiscation and taking by force, while he is equally inciting to disobedience of the law and to a disturbance of the general tranquility, is, in nine cases out of ten, allowed to pass unscathed. The negro who goes about in open day with arms in hand, in defiance of municipal law and military order, is generally allowed by our civil officers to escape unchidden. This must not be! There is no law in favor of the black as against the white, and as much diligence should be used in tracing, apprehending and correcting black offenders, as is used against the white. This is the only way in which the community can now have justice;—the only way in which justice will not be unjust.—Charleston Mercury.

TENNESSEE RADICALISM.—The Memphis Avalanche, of last Friday, contains some startling developments. It says:

"Several colored men, whose veracity will not be questioned by any Brownlowite in Memphis, have directed our attention to a secret organization that has been started by white Brownlowites among the colored people of this city.

The organization is ostensibly for benevolent purposes; but in one of its degrees it requires the initiated colored man to take a fearful oath to murder those who abandon its ranks and oppose Brownlowism. Perhaps the scoundrels who require colored men to utter such bloody imprecations do not really intend to have negroes murder those other blacks who, having been drawn into such secret counsels, are shocked and abandon them; but the oaths are to inspire terror, and may culminate in the dupes of such machinations imbruing their hands in the blood of their fellows. If it does so the most guilty murderers will be the white men who inspire the atrocious oaths."

The freedmen in Arkansas are said to have eclipsed the army in Flanders when they first learned that they had to pay a tax of three cents per pound on their part of the cotton crop.

It is said the heart of Wirz is kept on exhibition at the Old Capitol Prison.

CONNECTICUT MUTUAL LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

INCORPORATED MAY 1846,

ASSETS OVER

15,000,000,00

INCOME OVER $6,500,000,00,

The Largest Life Insurance Company in the World!

IT HAS NO STOCK CAPITAL; THE FIFTEEN Million Dollars all belong to the Policy holders, which now exceed 14,000, and notwithstanding the payment of a sixty per cent dividend last year, there is now a surplus of OVER 6,000,000,00,

It has had, through its entire history, the smallest average expenses, and, therefore, it is the safest and

CHEAPEST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY IN EXISTENCE.

The Ætna Life's General Agent of N. C., in last week's paper, made a statement as follows: "The ratio of the Ætna's expenses to premiums and total income is less than that of the Connecticut Mutual." He surely has not seen the State of New York's Commissioners Report, ending Dec. 31, 1866: "Ratio of expenses to premiums and interest, Connecticut Mutual 11.11, Ætna 16.60; to premiums only, Connecticut Mutual 15.44, Ætna 17.59." "That Company in which the average expenses are the lowest and the rate of interest obtained on investments is the highest (other things being equal,) affords life insurance at the least cost; also the Company is the safest in which the largest number is insured."

THAT COMPANY IS THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL.

This Company gives the Policy holder a credit or forbearance of one half his premium, and in case of early death, the number of dividends will always equal the number of out-standing credits. All policies non-forfeitable by their terms, or may be made so at the option of the insured. For further information apply to,

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS.

OPEN JUNE 1.

This favorite and delightful watering-place, having undergone thorough renovation, is prepared to receive visitors. The owners have made every effort in the outfit and equipment to render the place more than ever attractive to those in quest of recreation, while to the invalid its medicinal waters hold out new hopes of health. It may be confidently claimed for them that they have in a great many cases relieved, and in many more cases cured, the following diseases: SCROFULA, and many chronic CUTANEOUS diseases; CHRONIC THROAT, BRONCHITIS, DYSPEPSIA, CHRONIC DIARRHŒA, DROPSY, AFFECTIONS of KIDNEY and BLADDER, and PILES; and, in connection with the Hot Baths, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

As an appetizer, a tonic, and general restorative to an enfeebled constitution, it is perhaps unrivalled amongst mineral waters. The proprietors have engaged for the approaching season

THE SENTINEL.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1867.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION.

Since the telegram in another column came to hand, we have received, by mail, an official copy of the opinion of the Attorney General, defining the powers and duties of the military commanders, and furnishing the promised abstracts as to persons who are or are not disfranchised.

It is sufficient, to-day, to say that it annuls (it followed up by an order from the President, in the event that the Military Commanders may not choose to consider the exposition authoritative,) the removals that have been made of all Executive or Judicial officers, and the appointment of others in their stead; declares invalid all orders prohibiting the assembling of State Legislatures; pronounces unauthorized the whole series of Gen. Sickles' orders affecting the civil code of the State, &c. But where so many matters are embraced, we cannot make a synopsis. We shall publish the document entire, to-morrow,—as by far the most important and interesting matter that we can possibly lay before our readers.

As to disfranchisements, the ruling is general, that all officers before the war, who were required to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and who afterwards engaged in rebellion, are subject to disqualification. This, of course, includes Magistrates, &c.

MAYOR'S COURT.—D. Partin and M. C. Lewter, charged with a misdemeanor, were find $5 each.

I. Loyd and A. Loyd, charged with being engaged in an affray, were returned to the County Court.

Eli Hall, colored, charged with stealing a black frock-coat from James Hall, colored, was returned to the County Court.

MORE RAIN.—We were visited again, on Sunday and yesterday, with heavy rains.—That of yesterday, especially, was one of the severest we have ever known, while it lasted. We apprehend serious injury to the growing crops from these repeated and excessive rains. Even where the wheat is being harvested it is liable to great damage.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Chase rendered the opinion of the Court, on yesterday, in several important cases:

The case of Baxter vs. the Bank of Newbern was dismissed as to the Stockholders, but the claim of Baxter holds good as to the Bank.

In two cases, where merchants of this State had been sued by Northern merchants, he held that where money, justly due, had been paid during the war to Confederate receivers, either by compulsion or otherwise, it was null and void,—the debt was still due, never having been lawfully discharged as to the real creditor, and that all accruing interests were also due, notwithstanding the war. This opinion is directly contrary to a recent decision by a Virginia Judge.

ACTS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

A correspondent complains of the delay in the publication and distribution of the Acts of the Legislature, as many and important changes were made, in the knowledge of which the people are deeply interested. We are not prepared to think either the Secretary of State or the Public Printer are to blame in the matter. Will the Sentinel let us know when their distribution may be expected? We have had many complaints. Wilmington Journal.

Will our cotemporary do us the kindness to state, that in the Daily Sentinel of May 4th last, we stated as follows:

"We received the laws and commenced on them about the third week in March, and this is the first week in May. The laws and ordinances and the journals are all printed and the binder will execute his work as soon as possible, when they will be distributed at once. * * * Never has the work been executed better or quicker, that we are aware."

Moreover, the Public Printer has nothing to do with the work, after he sends the printed sheets to the binder. By law, the binding is done at the Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and the Blind. We know that the work is under the superintendence of a most experienced and capital workman, and the public may rely upon it that, so soon as completed, they will be forwarded to their destination by the Secretary of State, without a moment's delay.

EXECUTED.—Green Hodges, colored, was executed in Charlotte, on Friday, for rape, of which he had been duly convicted. He died firmly, without making any public confession.

VIRGINIA BAPTIST MINISTERS' INSTITUTE. By invitation of Dr. Jeter, about a hundred ministers of the General Association met on Monday evening in Lynchburg, to consider the propriety of organizing a Ministers' Institute for Virginia. Rev. Addison Hall was called to the chair, and Rev. T. H. Pritchard appointed Secretary. Dr. Jeter explained the objects of the meeting. It was proposed to select some central place, where a large number of preachers might come together to listen for eight or ten days to three lectures a day from distinguished divines, on the most important doctrines of theology, and topics connected with pastoral duty.

It was resolved that it was expedient to have such an organization, and a committee of five was appointed to choose the time and place for holding it—prepare a constitution for its government—arrange a scheme of lectures, and secure the services of as many lecturers as their scheme may require. This committee of plenary power consists of Rev. J. B. Taylor, D. D., Rev. W. F. Broaddus, D. D., Rev. A. M. Poindexter, D. D., Rev. J. L. Burrows, D. D., Rev. A. E. Dickinson.

THE CROPS IN TEXAS.—The San Antonio Express says an extended tour through the portion of the State lying between the San Antonio and Trinity rivers and South of the mountains, discloses one vast paradise. Every foot of cultivated land bids fair to return an unusually large yield. Notwithstanding the fact that the crops have been completely killed once this Spring, corn in many places is eight feet high and cotton is splendid. The San Antonio Herald bears the most encouraging reports from the wheat crop in Gillespie. A correspondent of the Brazos Signal, who has been travelling far and wide, says the crops everywhere are looking well. The Galveston News says: We hear very good reports of the crops throughout the State, although there is some recent complaint of damage from excessive rain. Many of our exchanges from the interior appear to have swum the creeks.

Dallas and Collin counties have been visited by severe hail storms, destroying a large amount of wheat. A terrible storm passed over the town of Kaufman on the 11th. ult., destroying several buildings, among which was the office of the Star.

THE GREAT METROPOLIS SEEN THROUGH THE "INDEPENDENT" SPECS.—Theodore Tilton has been looking into New York by gas-light, and dares not tell what he saw. He says of what he did see:

"In company with several well-known public men, and under the guidance of the police, we made a tour last Saturday, through the nethermost haunts of misery, vice and crime in the City of New York. This is an exploration which every man connected with public affairs, either by civil or by editorial duty, ought, if possible, to make at least once in his life. Born in New York, and having always either resided or labored within it, we never saw or knew our own city until last Saturday night. Never until then had we any conception of its poverty, of its squalidness, of its villainy, of its debauchery, or its leprosy! The sight can never be forgotten! The story, even if we had the heart to tell it, must, for decency's sake, remain untold. We can only say that none of the familiar descriptions had adequately prepared us for the actual scenes. We were shocked, confounded, sickened! And as we now look back upon the awful revelation of that one night's descent into hell, we can hardly persuade ourselves that what we saw was a reality; it seems a hideous dream."

And yet, with all these horrors right under his proboscis, this philanthropist has spent the better portion of his life in bewailing the moral condition of the poor negroes of the South.

POLITICAL REACTION.—The signs still thicken of a recoil of the public mind of the North from the extreme tension to which it has been so long subjected, and of a return of reason and sound principles. A recent election in Illinois shows a still more marked change in public sentiment than the late contest in Connecticut. We find in an exchange the returns of an election just held for Judge, in the second grand division of the State. The result shows a majority for the Democratic candidate of 4,230, in a district which last year gave 3,044 majority for the Radicals.

General Longstreet's letter is greatly relied on to stop such movements as these.—Why was not the man asleep?—Richmond Enquirer.

We understand that a good many citizens of Tennessee are abandoning that State, and seeking refuge in Kentucky, on account of the intolerable condition of affairs under Radical rule. It is thought that should Brownlow be re-elected, Tennessee will be deserted by nearly all good citizens who can get away. An exodus of this kind has already taken place from Missouri. Do not such facts speak volumes against the Radical party? None should vote the Radical ticket in this State who do not wish to see our people subjected to the oppression and tyranny beneath which the citizens of Tennessee and Missouri are groaning.—Louisville Courier.

CONFEDERATE QUARTERMASTERS NOT DISFRANCHISED.—The Natchitoches Times says: The latest opinion in regard to voters is furnished us by our special, who sent a note to the Attorney General. It is definitely settled that all persons who held a State or judicial office before the war, and afterwards became a Quartermaster in the Confederate army, can register. Grounds: After careful examination of the rebel archives, there can be found no instance in which this class of men ever rendered any aid, comfort or sympathy to the Confederate Army. Slide up rapid, ex-Q M's.

Forney is delighted with the knowledge of American politics displayed by the English liberals. He writes: "How well they understand our parties! It was an agreeable surprise to find my humble name almost familiar with them."

A Kansas judge has decided that under the law a man is white or black according to the preponderance of white or black blood in his veins. The question arose on the right of a light colored African to vote. The judge doesn't say what the rights of one half black and half white would be.

Tennessee babies have been brought under military supervision. An order has been issued by the commander of the Tennessee State Guards, directing certain parties to sit as a commission to decide between the parents of a female infant seven months old as to which parent should have possession of her.

THE NORTHERN LAKES.—The source of the supply and the overflow of the great Northwestern lakes is to be investigated this year by the United States Government. There has hitherto been much discussion, but no investigation upon this interesting subject.

BREADSTUFFS DECLINING.—In two weeks corn in Chicago fell twenty cents a bushels; oats fell thirty cents in a few days; rye, in a month, fell fifty-five cents, and Spring wheat ninety five cents. This is encouraging.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION REGARDING MILITARY COMMANDERS.

WASHINGTON, June 17, M.

The opinion of the Attorney General in regard to the powers of the Military Commanders is too elaborate for telegraph, and the reasoning too close for a synopsis. The following verbatim extracts cover the conclusions:

"I find it impossible, under the provisions of this act, to comprehend such an official as a Governor of one of these States, appointed to office by one of these Military Commanders,—certainly he is not the Governor recognized by the laws of the State, elected by the laws of the State, and clothed as such with the Chief Executive power, nor is he appointed as a Military Governor for a State which has no lawful Governor, under the pressure of an existing necessity to exercise powers at large. The intention no doubt was to appoint him to fill a vacancy occasioned by a Military error, and to put him in the place of the removed Governor to execute the functions of the office as provided by law.

What is true as to the Governor is equally true as to all the other Executive, Legislative and Judicial officers of the State.

If the Military Commander can oust one from his office, he can oust them all, if he can fill one vacancy, he can fill all vacancies, and thus usurp all civil jurisdiction into his own hands, or the hands of those who hold their appointments from him, and subject to his power of removal, and thus frustrate the very right secured to the people by this act.

Certainly this act is rigorous enough in the power which it gives. With all its severities, the right of electing their own officers is still left with the people, and it must be preserved. I must not be understood as fixing limits to the power of the Military Commanders in case of an actual insurrection or riot. It may happen that an insurrection in one of these States may be so general and formidable as to require the temporary suspension of all civil government and the establishment of martial law in its place. And the same thing may be true as to local disorder or riot in reference to the civil government of the city or place where it breaks out. Whatever power is necessary to meet such emergencies, the Military Commander may properly exercise. I confine myself to the proper authority of the Military Commander where peace and order prevail. When peace and order do prevail, it is not allowable to displace the civil officers and appoint others in their places, under any idea that the Military Commander can better perform his duties and carry out the general purposes of the act by the agency of civil officers of his own choice, rather than by the lawful incumbents. The act gives him no right to resort to such agency, but does give him the right to have a sufficient military force to enable him to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

In the suppression of insurrection and riot the Military Commander is wholly independent of the civil authority. So, too, in the trial and punishment of criminals and offenders, he may supercede the civil jurisdiction. His power is to be exercised in these special emergencies, and the means are put into his hands by which it is to be exercised. That is to say, a sufficient Military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority, and Military tribunals of his own appointment to try and punish offenders. These are strictly military powers to be executed by military authority, and not by the civil authority, or civil officers appointed by him to perform ordinary civil duties.

If these emergencies do not happen; if civil order is preserved and criminals are duly prosecuted by the regular criminal Courts, the military power, though present, must remain passive.—Its proper function is to preserve the peace, to act promptly when the peace is broken, and restore order. When that is done and the civil authority may again safely resume its functions, the military power becomes again passive, but on guard and watchful.

This, in my judgment, is the whole scope of the Military power conferred by this act. And in arriving at this construction of the act I have not found it necessary to resort to the strict construction which is allowable."

EDITOR SHOT.

LUNCHBURG, June 17.

R. H. Glass, Editor of the Republican, was shot on the street to-day by the sons of D. F. Booker, in consequence of an article on their father. The shot took effect in the eye, the ball lodging in the head. Mr. Glass is comfortable, but the issue is yet uncertain.

REGISTRATION—MILITARY COMMISSION—THE GRAND JURY.

RICHMOND, June 17.

Registration commenced in one ward of this City to-day. At night 187 whites and 144 blacks had been registered. Registration also commenced in the county, where at one precinct only four voters were registered during the day.

The first Military Commissioner's trial commenced to-day. The case was that of Haney, a teacher of freedmen, who had been sentenced by the court to $150 fine and a month's imprisonment for whipping a boy named Hotz, not belonging to his school, and a brother of Hotz who had been fined one cent for cowhiding Haney.—The fines and imprisonments were set aside and the parties brought before Gen. Granger, Military Commissioner for this District.

The United States Grand Jury adjourned to-day, having made over fifty presentments.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

WASHINGTON, June 17.

In opening for the prosecution, after describing the assassination the District Attorney said that the prosecution would show to the entire satisfaction of the jury, by competent and credible witness, that the prisoner at the bar, Jno. H. Surratt, was then and there present aiding and abetting in that murder. He would show that at the time of the murder he was in front of Ford's Theatre, co-operating with Booth they would hear what the prisoner said there; they would know him as the partner of Booth, they would know him as a director of the bullet that 'pierced the President's head, and a director of the knife that struck the threat of the Secretary of State; they would know that the companionship then and there between the prisoner and Booth was not accidental but was the result of long and premeditated plan and association.

The examination of witnesses was then commenced.

REVENUE—OFFICERS TO BE RESTORED, WHO WERE REMOVED BY MILITARY COMMANDERS.

WASHINGTON, June 17.

Internal Revenue receipts to-day $1,047,000.

The Cabinet had a protracted special session to-day. It is stated on authority that it was decided to restore civil officers who have been removed contrary to law. They will be restored by an Executive order which will be issued to-morrow.

SOUTHERN RELIEF.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.

The total remittance from California to the Southern Relief Commission is $74,000.

REGISTRATION—MURDER.

AUGUSTA, June 17.

A white man named Wm. S. Flynn, a storekeeper on the Albany gulf road, has been murdered by two freedmen,—his head and face being chopped with an axe and his house burned. The murderers were arrested by colored men. The indignation was so great that it was with great difficulty that they were prevented from lynching the culprits by the white citizens.

NEGRO JURY.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1867.

LIFT ME OVER.

BY M. E. H.

"Oh Father, lift me over!" It was a little child,
Who stood and poised one slender foot across a stream defiled;
Her robe was fair and spotless, the current dark and slow,
Wherein the city-streets' debris was tossing to and fro.

The father stooped and lifted, with fond caressing care,
The little one whose silver voice had reached his ear in prayer,
The throng came swiftly onward; I saw the twain no more;
But all day long, in every strait, I said her sweet words o'er.

Some faltered long, returned them back, another way to view;
Cried, "Lift me, lift me over!" and reached the better path.

O Father up in Heaven, whose ear is ever bent
To hear the prayers thy children raise, whatever their intent,
Wilt thou not heed and listen, and when the floods are high,
Oh, stoop, and with thine arm of might bring them salvation nigh!

Oh! lift me over, when the waves of sorrow come too near,
When e'er the tempter's siren voice shall whisper in mine ear;
When fever's flush is on my cheek, when aches my throbbing head,
Then let me lie within thine arms; then soothe my painful dread.

Oh, lift me over, Father! Oh, lift me at the last,
When earthly hopes and earthly fears are all forever past;
When roll the waters at my feet, oh! take my trembling hand,
And lift me with one strong, sweet grasp, home to the better land!

AN OUT-TRAVELED TRAVELER.—They have out at Atlanta a hotel keeper named Thompson, who is considered rather sharp at a joke, but he sometimes meets his match, as the following story goes to prove:

A traveler called very late for his breakfast, and the meal was hurriedly prepared. Thompson feeling that the food was not quite up to the mark, made all sorts of apologies around the eater, who worked away in silence, never raising his head beyond the affirmative influence of his fork, or by any act even acknowledged the presence of mine host. This sulky demeanor rather vexed the landlord, who changing the range of his battery, stuck his thumbs in his armholes and said: "Now, mister, confound me if I hain't made all the apologies necessary, and more, too, considering the breakfast and who gets it: and I tell you, I have seen dirtier, worse looking, and a devil of a sight smaller breakfasts than this is, several times."

The weary, hungry one laid down his tools, swallowed the bite in transitu, and modestly looking up at the fuming landlord, exclaimed: "Is what you say true?" "Yes, sir." "Well, then, I'll be blamed if you hain't out-traveled me!" said he.

TO TEST FLOUR.—Place a thimbleful of flour in the palm of the hand, and rub it gently with the finger of the other hand. If the flour smooths down under the finger, feeling silky and slippery, it is of inferior quality, though of fancy brand, high priced and white as the virgin snow-drift. It has been either too long ground or made from damaged wheat, or perhaps having an unusual per centum of gluten—murdered with dull burs, and will never make good, light, wholesome bread. But if the flour rubs rough in the palm, feeling like fine sand, and has an orange tint, purchase confidently. It will not disappoint you. Such flour, whatever may be its branded reputation, though in price it may be at the lowest figure, will make good, light nutritious bread. Philadelphia Farm and Fireside.

A Paris paper has this clever satire on the present high prices: "A devout lady, who attends the church of St. Roche, has been in the habit of giving half a franc every Saturday to an old man who sits at the door with a box to receive alms. The other day, when she proffered the usual sum to him, he said, 'I beg your pardon, madame; during the Exhibition it is a franc.'"

J. B. was a stingy old creature, eager for money, but he was a zealous member of a church, and ostentatious in his religious exercises. "John," said Catharine to her brother, "what could have made the stingy old wretch a Christian?" "I can tell you," said John, "he has read that the streets of the New Jerusalem are paved with gold, and he is determined to get there."

GENERAL ORDER NO. 32.

HEADQUARTERS, 2ND MILITARY DISTRICT, Charleston, May 30.

General Orders No. 32.

1. Any citizen, a qualified voter according to the requirements of the Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2nd, 1867, and the act supplemental thereto, passed March 23rd, 1867, is eligible to office in the Provisional government of North and South Carolina. All persons appointed to office will be required to take the oath prescribed by the act aforesaid and to file the same duly subscribed and sworn with the Post Commander.

2. All citizens assessed for taxes, and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors. It shall be the duty of the proper civil officers, charged with providing lists of jurors, to proceed within their several jurisdictions, without delay, and ascertain the names of all qualified persons, and place them on the jury lists, and from such revised lists all jurors shall be hereafter summoned, and drawn in the manner required by law.

3. All citizens are eligible to follow any licensed calling, employment or avocation, subject to such impartial regulations as may be prescribed by municipal or other competent authority, not inconsistent with common rights and the Constitution and laws of the United States. The bond required as security shall not exceed the penal sum of one hundred dollars. One or more sureties being citizens and worth, in the aggregate, double the amount of the bond, over and above just debts, will be sufficient.

4. The Mayors of cities and other municipal and town officers, and all Sheriffs, Magistrates and Police officers, are required to be vigilant and efficient in maintaining order, and in the discharge of their duties. They will be expected to co-operate with the military authorities.

5. Post commanders may summon to their aid, whenever the ordinary means at their disposal shall not be sufficient to execute their orders, such of the civil officers, and as many of the citizens, within the territorial limits of the military post, as may be necessary, and the neglect or refusal of any person to aid and assist in the execution of the orders of the Commanding officer will be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by such fine and imprisonment as may be imposed by a military tribunal approved by the Commanding General.

6. No license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one gallon or to be drank on the premises shall be granted to any person other than an Inn-keeper. The number of such licenses shall be determined, and the fees to be charged for each license shall be prescribed and collected, by the municipal or town authorities and appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the poor. If any person shall be found drunk on the premises where liquor is sold, the license may be revoked by any magistrate. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue laws of the United States is an additional charge and does not excuse the person from the observance of local regulations, nor exempt him from the payment of such other license fees as may be imposed by the municipal or other competent authorities.

7. All contracts hereafter made for the manufacture, sale or transportation, storage or insurance of intoxicating liquors shall within this military district be deemed and treated as against public policy, and no civil action, suit or proceedings for the enforcement of any such contract shall be entertained in any court.

8. In public conveyances on railroads, highways, streets or navigable waters, no discrimination because of color or caste shall be made, and the common rights of all citizens therein shall be recognized and respected. The violation of this regulation will be deemed a misdemeanor and render the offender liable to arrest and trial by a Military tribunal to be designated by the commanding General, besides such damages as the injured party may sue for and recover in the civil Courts.

9. The remedy by distress for rent is abolished. Where lands are leased, or let out for hire or rent, cotton, corn or other produce of the same, when severed from the land, may be impounded, but the same shall not be removed. Any cotton, corn or other produce so impounded shall be held as security for the rent or hire so claimed and may be sold in satisfaction of any judgment for the same, Provided, that any unsatisfied claim for labor bestowed upon the cultivation of such cotton, corn, or other produce, shall, in no case, be postponed to any demand for rent or hire. But to the extent of such claim for labor there shall be a lien on such cotton, corn and other produce having preference over any claim for rent or hire.

By command of
MAJ. GEN. SICKLES,
J. W. CLOUS, A. A. A. G.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of the legislature elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the State now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5. That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "Act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
